Whether it's a single dealership, a building for multiple dealerships, or several dealerships in different locations, Robertson will ensure you get the building that's just right for your needs, your timeline, and your budget—from project conception to completion.

As an experienced manufacturer of engineered building systems for dealerships, Robertson can help you realize significant savings in both time and money from quicker occupancy, lower construction costs, and highest quality, low-maintenance buildings.

Count on Robertson's Experience with Auto Dealerships:

- Our design capabilities include large, clear spans that provide wide, open spaces that is perfect for dazzling showroom floors
- A Robertson metal building can integrate with traditional construction materials such as glass, masonry, brick, stone, and many other popular veneers that can be designed to suit any shape or profile you have in mind
- Future maintenance and energy cost considerations receive major attention
- Performance-proven quality materials used in the manufacturing process ensure savings on future upkeep and maintenance costs
- Robertson building systems give the flexibility to add on in an easy, economical way

Our experience in building dealerships is your assurance that Robertson will bring your vision to life.

A Robertson building will conform rigidly to your exact design/build specifications given to us by you or handed down by your franchisor. We will manufacture and erect your dealership on time and on budget. And in the end, we'll make sure your completed dealership is customer-friendly and conducive for buying.

We use only the most cost-efficient and durable construction materials that work well with a variety of conventional exteriors—including glass—plus brick, stone, and other popular veneers. With Robertson, you can be assured that your building will reflect your corporate image.

Automotive dealership construction is a large part of Robertson's business, so when it comes to designing your facility, call us. We can provide a single source of responsibility and work with you for a custom solution that balances function and aesthetics.
